House Rules: MCKN

Date: 2025-APR-29

Version: 1.1.0 - Ashfall Fright Misty

Welcome to the House Rules repository for Marble City: Knoxville Nights (MCKN), a satellite chronicle within One World by Night.

Our chronicle uses the [Western Shore House Rules] as our baseline ruleset. These provide the shared framework used across multiple games within the Western Shore collective, including Milwaukee, Jefferson, and Chicago. We build upon this foundation with local clarifications and additions specific to our setting and player needs.

This repository outlines those local rulings. If a rule or mechanic is not specifically mentioned here, please refer to the Western Shore House Rules for guidance.

All rules are subject to change at storyteller discretion. When in doubt, contact staff.

Signing In

By signing into this game, each participant affirms their understanding and acceptance of all house rules as defined by the MCKN storytelling staff. This includes compliance with OWbN bylaws, organizational policies, and the standards of our local chronicle.

Signing in also serves as confirmation that both the player and their character are authorized for play within the One World By Night organization. Characters who have not been formally reviewed, approved, or updated to meet current chronicle or organizational standards may be restricted from play until resolved.

We recognize and allow the use of proxy characters — characters played on behalf of another player with their permission. However, all proxies in this chronicle are considered hard proxies. This means:

- They are fully subject to in-character consequences and the same rules as if the original player were present.
- Signing in as a proxy constitutes implied consent to be involved in scenes, actions, or outcomes, including those that may result in injury, loss, or character death.
- The storytelling staff will do their best to represent the absent player's intent, but narrative continuity will not be suspended for characters played via proxy.

By signing in—whether for yourself or as a proxy — you acknowledge your responsibility to engage with the game in good faith, uphold our consent and safety standards, and respect the integrity of the shared story world.

PLAYER POLICIES AND THE SHARED WORLD

Our chronicle thrives on collaboration, respect, and shared storytelling. Every scene, every interaction, and every moment of drama is made possible because of the players — and that includes our staff.

This is a shared environment, built by the community for the community. Whether you're a new face or a seasoned veteran, everyone is part of shaping the story. We value your contributions, creativity, and engagement.

Staff members are players, too — with an expanded role.

While staff may guide the story, arbitrate rules, or represent the world beyond your character, they are not infallible authorities. They're fellow players who have taken on additional responsibilities to help build the best experience possible.

We believe in: - Open communication - Mutual respect - Shared accountability - Fair and fun play for all

This section is dedicated to you, the players — the lifeblood of MCKN. Here you'll find what you need to get started, stay involved, and thrive in our game world.

Let's tell an unforgettable story — together.

Code of Conduct

Our Code of Conduct is based on and fully supports the organization's code of conduct, available at OWBN Code of Conduct.

At MCKN, we are committed to fostering a respectful, inclusive, and collaborative environment for all players, staff, and guests. The strength of our chronicle lies in the shared passion we all bring to the World of Darkness — and in the way we treat one another both in and out of character.

How We Treat Each Other

- We speak and act with respect, even in disagreement.
- We assume good intentions, not malice.
- We understand that miscommunications happen, and we approach them with patience and a willingness to clarify.
- We acknowledge that everyone is here to have fun, and that includes you.

What We Believe

- Every player deserves to feel safe, welcome, and valued at our game.
- In-character conflict does not excuse out-of-character hostility.
- Our community is at its best when we act in the spirit of collaboration, not competition.
- Accountability and forgiveness both have a place in our culture.

Consent is Key

Character actions are never more important than real-life people.

While we play in a World of Darkness, and this chronicle explores a wide range of intense and mature themes, we all share the responsibility to ensure that every player feels respected, safe, and comfortable. Individual boundaries vary, and it is the duty of both players and staff to uphold them.

During scenes involving emotionally charged, violent, or controversial subject matter, staff will perform Check-Ins with participants to ensure everyone is comfortable with the direction and tone of the roleplay. Likewise, in moments of PvP (Player vs. Player) conflict or distressing interactions, players may be asked to adjust the nature of their actions if they are making others uncomfortable. This is not about removing consequences—it’s about adapting them to keep the game safe, fun, and immersive for all.

Withdrawing Consent from a Scene

At any time, a player may withdraw their consent from a scene, interaction, or environment they no longer wish to be part of. No justification is required. If this occurs:

- The player will be allowed to step out immediately.
- Storytellers will determine the results for the character, including how they exit the scene and what consequences (if any) follow.

These outcomes may include:

- The character being placed under “follow mode” (present but directed by STs).
- Scene adjustments or retcons that preserve player well-being while keeping narrative flow.
- Application of realistic consequences — including injury, disappearance, or character death — if such outcomes are appropriate for the in-game circumstances.

Storytellers will always consider the narrative, context, and character history—but stepping away from a scene does not protect a character from logical danger. The world continues, even if the player must step away.

This policy is non-negotiable. Player safety comes first. The Storytellers are empowered to make decisions that preserve that safety while maintaining continuity for everyone else at the table.

This Is Not a Way to Avoid Consequences

This is not a loophole to avoid danger, escape conflict, or “pause” the game. It is a creative fail-safe that ensures we tell collaborative, respectful stories that adapt to real-life needs.

- If you’re uncomfortable with a theme, we’ll find another path.
- If a situation is too intense, we’ll handle it discreetly.
- If you step away from the story, it doesn’t freeze around your absence.

Consequences will still exist. They may simply be handled differently, behind the scenes, or off-camera. No one gets a free pass, but no one gets punished for caring for themselves, either.

Death Tax: When a Character Is Removed from Play

Our game encourages deep roleplay and long-term storytelling. Removing another player's character from the game—whether by death, banishment, or permanent harm—should be a last resort, not a shortcut to solve a conflict.

As such, any time a player character permanently removes another player character from play, a Death Tax may be applied:

- The aggressor may lose 0% to 25% of the XP total of the character they removed, depending on circumstances and ST judgment.
- This may include XP deduction, loss of items, powers, or Influence, or other narrative setbacks.
- This applies to death, banishment, permanent incapacitation, or any similar outcome that makes a character unplayable in this game.

The tax is based on:

- The aggressor's in-character justification for the action.
- The effort made to resolve the issue through roleplay before reaching for violence.
- The tone and conduct of the scene (i.e., was it dramatic storytelling or out-of-game frustration?).

This policy exists to protect characters as story assets, not invulnerability. Sometimes a character must die—but it should mean something.

TL;DR

- Players may leave a scene at any time.
- Storytellers will resolve the results for the character—and those results may include death.
- Players who remove other characters from play may be taxed XP or resources depending on the circumstances.
- The goal is always immersive consequence, not mechanical punishment.
- Player safety comes first. The story comes next.

Everyone deserves a game where they feel welcome, valued, and safe—even while playing monsters. We build that environment together, with care, flexibility, and respect for both the story and each other.

Characters & You: Shared Ownership in a Shared World

At MCKN, your character is more than just a sheet — it's a narrative contribution to something larger than yourself. We believe that characters are co-owned by the player and the chronicle, with both parties sharing responsibility in how those characters live, grow, and sometimes fall within the story.

Shared Stewardship

When you bring a character to life in our chronicle, you retain ownership of your concept, voice, and personal creativity. However, by joining MCKN, you grant the chronicle a shared role in developing, interpreting, and progressing that character within the context of our shared world.

- Players own their characters' backgrounds, personalities, motivations, and development arcs.
- The Chronicle stewards those characters within a living setting — one that evolves, challenges, and occasionally changes them.

This agreement isn't about control — it's about cooperation. We build this together.

What Shared Ownership Means

- Characters can be referenced, involved in plots, or affected by events while players are away.
- Staff may retcon, advance, or resolve scenes in a character's absence to preserve game continuity.

- Significant changes will always consider the character’s context, prior history, and the player’s intent — but the game world keeps moving.

When you create a character here, you grant the chronicle a non-exclusive license to include them in stories, scenes, and consequences that serve the broader narrative.

Rails, Not Walls

Shared ownership does not mean unchecked freedom. The following principles apply to players and staff alike:

- Players cannot use out-of-character tools to shield characters from earned consequences.
- Staff cannot use narrative authority to override player agency without clear justification.
- Consequences, growth, and change are all part of meaningful storytelling.

If you step away from a scene, the story doesn’t pause. Your character may continue under storyteller guidance, and outcomes will be determined fairly based on context.

Protecting the Spirit of the Game

To prevent misuse of safety systems or narrative authority:

- Timeouts and content withdrawals are honored without question for real-life safety, but do not shield characters from in-game ramifications.
- Storytellers apply realistic outcomes, from subtle changes to character death, always grounded in the story.
- Players are not punished for caring for their own well-being — but neither are characters granted immunity from the consequences of the world.

This isn’t about mechanical punishment — it’s about narrative integrity.

The Bottom Line

- Characters belong to both the player and the chronicle.
- Storytelling rights are shared, and responsibility is mutual.
- Staff and players alike are stewards of the narrative.
- All actions carry consequence — in-character and out.
- Everyone is here to have fun, feel safe, and tell powerful stories.

By participating in MCKN, you agree to this shared model — one that balances respect for your character with respect for the game as a whole. It’s how we tell lasting stories, together.

A Shared Love of the Game

We come together because we love this world, this system, and the stories we create. That love is the foundation we return to when misunderstandings arise.

If problems occur, we encourage players to:

1. Address it privately and respectfully if they feel comfortable doing so.
2. Bring it to staff for support and mediation if needed.
3. Work toward resolution — not escalation — so that the game continues to be a place of enjoyment for everyone.

Let’s build a chronicle where creativity thrives, friendships grow, and the story is as strong as the community that tells it.

Black Carding: Player Discomfort During Intense Scenes

While our goal is to tell a story that embraces the darker, more challenging elements of the World of Darkness, we understand that there are some topics players may find uncomfortable or distressing.

If such a topic arises, please notify the storyteller. You may ask them to step aside and let them know that the content is something you, as a player, are not comfortable with.

At any point in time, a player may leave a scene due to the nature of the content.

If a player cannot find an in-character reason for their departure, their character may be placed under “follow mode” by the storyteller. This means:

- The character remains present under storyteller control.
- If combat occurs, the player will be asked to return to adjudicate their sheet.

If a player does not need to fully leave the scene, but needs a moment to pause, they may request a break from the staff. In this case:

- A 10-minute recess will be called for the scene.
- If the player is still unable to continue after the break, their character will be placed in “follow mode.”

In the event of a PvP (player vs. player) situation:

- If a player is unable to continue, staff will speak with them privately to understand the concern and assist in resolving it.
- The 10-minute break or “follow mode” cannot be used to avoid PvP.

Our chronicle values both immersive storytelling and the well-being of our players. Safety and mutual respect come first.

CHARACTER CREATION RULES

General Creation Rules

Nature & Demeanor

General Rules

Your Nature is who you truly are, the essence of your self. Your Demeanor is how you present yourself to others. Both come from the same list.

- Architect: You mean to build something with your life that will have value beyond your years.
- Autist: You hide truths about yourself from others, preferring to maintain secrecy.
- Autocrat: Power is its own reward, and you mean to be rewarded.
- Avant-Garde: You want to break new ground and set the trends others will follow.
- Bon Vivant: You live life large, always on the lookout for a good time.

- Director: Leading others is second nature to you. You organize and achieve.
- Fanatic: Nobody's as dedicated to the cause as you are. You'll do anything in its name.
- Gallant: You enjoy being the showoff at the center of attention. You need their praise to feel good.

- Sycophant: You need someone bigger and stronger than you to tell you you're worthy.
- Traditionalist: The status is quo. You uphold the traditions, time-tested by your ancestors.
- Visionary: You aspire to a higher calling that's sometimes difficult to express.

Regaining Willpower with your Nature

If you are low on unspent Willpower Traits and you role-play in a way you feel uniquely satisfies your Nature, inform a Storyteller. The Storyteller may opt to give you simple Rock-Paper-Scissors throw. On a win or a tie, you earn back one Willpower Trait. Alternatively, the Storyteller can opt to reward you one Willpower trait without requiring a challenge for particularly good demonstration of roleplaying your character's Nature. This may only be done once per Scene.

Traits: Physical, Social, & Mental

Physical, Social, and Mental Traits are three categories of Traits that describe your character. They are used in the game's main resolution system, Challenges.

Physical Traits

These three Traits describe your character's physical capabilities.

- Quick: This trait governs how swift, sure-of-foot, and nimble you are. It's good for dodging attacks, leaping and firing ranged weapons.
- Strong: This trait describes how much power your body can bring to bear. It's good for close-combat fighting and feats of strength.
- Tough: This trait tells how long you can endure exhaustion and damage. It's good for shrugging off blows in combat.

Social Traits

These Traits describe your character's interpersonal capabilities.

- Charismatic: This trait tells how personable and friendly you can be. Use it to charm people and to give persuasive speeches.
- Impressive: This trait governs how well you can impress people with your appearance. Use it to seduce, intimidate or inspire others.
- Manipulative: This trait describes how well you get what you want out of people. Use it to deceive people and work political angles.

Mental Traits

These Traits describe the capabilities of your character's mind.

- Intelligent: This trait describes your education and mastery of knowledge. Use it to recall esoteric facts and solve puzzles.
- Perceptive: This trait tells how attentive you are to the world around you. It's good for noticing hidden, unusual or notable clues.
- Wily: This trait governs how creative and quick-thinking you can be. It's good for outsmarting others and finding unexpected solutions.

Item Rules & Crafting Guidelines

This section outlines the policies for item usage, magic item handling, and crafting within the MCKN chronicle. All items must be registered and approved by staff before gameplay.

The 5-Item Rule

You are limited to 5 items per category at any given time. Items must be recorded on index cards, with three separate cards for the following item types:

1. Major Items

These create permanent magical effects and include:

- Fetishes
- Mage Talismans
- Mage Enchantments
- Vampiric Blood Magic Wards

2. Minor Items

These create one-time magical effects and include:

- Kyasid Potions
- Incantation Items
- Assamite Poisons
- Talens

Note: A blood bead item card counts as one item. Check with staff for quantity limits.

3. Mundane Items

These are non-magical and include:

- Vehicles
- Regular Weapons (e.g., stakes)
- Regular Armor

Magic Items

All magical items must include:

- Type of magic paradigm used
- Caster's name

- Date of casting
- Any relevant enchantment details, such as:
 - Contained spirit type
 - Spirit statistics or additional magical information

Weapon Enchantments

Weapons may only be enchanted with a number of rituals equal to or less than the traits they provide. This applies to:

- Temporary rituals
- Permanent rituals

This rule does not retroactively affect existing enchanted items.

Crafting Rules

Time to Craft

- Crafting takes a number of days equal to the bonus traits the item will have.
- 0-trait items still require 1 full day to craft.
- Use Dark Epics for base stats unless a different source is cited.
- To create a Craft 5 item, you must have Craft 5 Ability.
- If crafting a modified item, that project must be your sole focus for the downtime cycle.

Modifications

Required Craft Rating

- Crafts 3: You may choose 1 standard modification.
- Crafts 4: You may chop with a Storyteller for a special modification or choose an unused standard mod.
- Crafts 5: Same as above, but may choose remaining standard mods or chop again.

Standard Modifications

- Gain a Bonus Trait
- Remove a Negative Trait
- Deliver or soak +1 additional damage
- Adjust rate of fire on ranged weapons

Special Modification Chop Results

If you choose to chop with a Storyteller for a special modification, the following results apply:

On a Win

- A positive modification is added.
- The Storyteller chooses a benefit appropriate to the item.
 - Examples: “High Caliber” (gun), “Shield Break” (sword), etc.

Each option may only be chosen once.

On a Tie

- You may choose one of the following:
 - Gain a Bonus Trait
 - Remove a Negative Trait
 - Deliver/Soak +1 damage

Each option may only be chosen once.

On a Loss

- A negative modification is added.
- The Storyteller chooses the drawback based on the item.
 - Examples*: “Loud” (gun), “Fragile” (sword), loss of a health level on armor, etc.

The player does not get to choose the effect in either case nor are these limited to once (A weapon could receive Loud x2 for instance)

Let staff know if you'd like help building your item index cards or to check if something falls under a Major, Minor, or Mundane category.

Defensive

Armor provides its own Health Levels that you mark off its Item Card first when you take damage. When all its Health Levels have been marked off, the armor is too damaged to provide any further benefit. Some armors offer only protection against damage from certain sources, such as firearms or melee weapons.

There are three types of armor:

- Skin (an effect that strengthens your body)
- Apparel (armor you wear)
- Barrier (a mystical barrier like Luna’s Armor or Kenetic Shield)

You may have only one effect of each type in place at one time. All mundane armor listed here has the type Apparel, which means you can’t wear Chain Mail under a Riot Suit for extra protection – only one of the two effects will apply, and the other is ignored.

Magical defensive items (such as Luna’s Armor, etc) are treated as Major Items under the 5-item rule, while mundane armor and shields are considered Mundane Items.

Armor

Armor	HL	Neg Traits	C	Special
Light Armor	1	NA	Disguised as clothing	No protection vs. Firearms

Combat Rules & Mechanics

Storyteller Oversight

Once you have signed in, you are under the control of the Storyteller (ST) staff until the end of that game. Unique situations may require this control to extend longer.

General Combat Rules

- No combat may be initiated within 1 hour of game-off.
- Hard Trait Cap for PCs: 30 (applies in and out of combat).
- All activations must be declared in the presence of a storyteller.

Bufs

- Buff can be applied to player characters from the following:
 - Signed in PCs (either present or proxied)
 - Chronicle-controlled NPCs on approval.
 - Coordinator-controlled NPCs with prior notification and approval.
- Retainers must have an approved sheet on file to be valid sources of buffs.

Initiative & Turn Order

- Initiative = Base Traits + Named Traits from applicable sources.
- Unless a power or effect explicitly modifies initiative, it does not apply.

Combat Order of Operations (Per Round)

1. Resource Expenditures (Blood, Willpower, etc.)
 - Majesty activates here.
 - Carrier attacks must be declared/spent before this step.
2. Top of Round Effects
3. Social Soliloquy
4. Mental and Social actions
5. Mental vs. Physical actions
6. Clotho's Gift Action 1 / Zephyr / Flower of Death
7. Alacrity (Step 1): Defend or ready weapon only.
8. Normal Physical Actions

9. Clotho's Gift Actions 2+
10. Celerity 1 / Rage 1
11. Celerity 2 / Rage 2
12. Off-Hand Attacks / Black Metamorphosis / Bail the Body
13. End of Round Effects
 - Vanish
 - Shroud
 - Shapechanging

Shapechanging Activation Times

Power	Cost	Time to Activate
Form of the Serpent	1B	3 rounds
Black Metamorphosis	2B	Instant
Tenebrous Form	—	3 rounds, full concentration
Feral Claws	1B	End of round
Shape of the Beast	1B	3 rounds
^^	2B	2 rounds
^^	3B	1 round
Mist Form	1B	3 rounds
^^	2B	2 rounds
^^	3B	1 round
Ashes to Ashes	2B	1 round, full concentration
Horrid Form	2B	End of round

CB Form Shift	—

Elemental Form bonuses:

- Fire: +1 aggravated damage in Brawl
- Earth: Gain 3 levels of armor
- Air: Free retest on stealth
- Water: +2 steps of movement per action

Rule of Five

Any game mechanic with a variable trait expenditure is capped at 5 traits max, unless otherwise specified by a published rule. Storytellers may override this.

Carrier Attacks

Carrier attacks are:

- Limited to 1 per round
- Require trait expenditure prior to attack

Listed Carrier Attacks

Animalism: Quell the Beast

Necromancy: Mortus Path – Mercy for Seth

Quietus: Scorpion's Touch (if traits not pre-spent)

Thanatosis: Putrefaction, Withering, Necrosis

Vicissitude: Fleshcraft, Bonecraft (per Tzimisce Packet)

Thaumaturgy:

- Path of Blood: Blood Rage, Cauldron of Blood
- Mastery of the Mortal Shell: Vertigo, Contortion, Seizure, Body Failure
- Vine of Dionysus: Methyskein, Hamaratia
- Neptune's Might: Blood to Water
- Path of Corruption: Addiction
- Hands of Destruction: Atrophy
- Any Ritual requiring touch

Additional carrier attacks are at the storyteller's discretion.

Additional Defenses

Defenders may spend 1 additional Temporary Willpower to retest the following powers:

- Chimerstry: Horrid Reality
- Mytherceria: Riddle Phantastique
- Necromancy: Bone Path – Soul Stealing
- Path of the Focused Mind: One Tracked Mind
- Gift of Morpheus: Enchanted Slumber
- Mastery of the Mortal Shell: Body Failure
- Path of Du'at: Consignment to Du'at

Ties in Challenges

When a trait total tie occurs:

- Each party may add their permanent levels of one appropriate Ability.
- Adding Ability Levels only applies on challenges that tie on trait totals

Example:

On a tie, Bob (attacker) may add Brawl. Tina (defender) may add Dodge.

Additional resources for traits in challenge resolution:

- Weapon stats (limit one item)^
- Specializations (limit one specialization)
- Merits
- Disciplines
- Magic Items (limit one item)

∴ Note that shields can be added upon storyteller discretion if the wielder has at least Melee x1

Retest Categories:

- Ability
- Supernatural Power(Discipline/Gift/etc.)
- Item
- Rite/Ritae/Ritual
- Merit
- Advantage (Tribe, Effect, etc.)
- Temper

Note, you can only declare and use one and only one retest per category.

Auspex vs. Obfuscate Tie:

- Add levels of Auspex/Supernatural Awareness + Investigation for detection
- Add levels of Obfuscate/Concealment Power + Stealth for concealment
- Each level = +1 Trait - Combination powers do not add levels above the core discipline

Note that Combination powers still gain the benefits of the core discipline so using See the True Form (Auspex 2, Protean 4) with Auspex 5 and 5 levels of Investigation would net +10 traits.

If both parties have “Win on Ties”, it is treated as if neither has it.

Bidding Addendum

Unless a power/merit explicitly overrides it, bidding is capped at twice the generational/rank cap.

Allowed to exceed the cap:

- Impressive Visage
- Pater Szlachta
- Other Storyteller-approved powers or merits

Retests

Only one retest per source is allowed per challenge. Sources include:

- Ability
- Discipline or Supernatural Power
- Magic Item
- Merit (if allowed more than once)
- Background
- Willpower (if applicable)
- Nature (if applicable)
- Miscellaneous effects
- PvE-specific retest
- Overbid (restarts the challenge entirely)

Magical effect retests (e.g., Fascination) can only be used once per challenge.

Mass Combat Rules

These rules outline the structure, etiquette, and mechanical systems in place during large-scale combat scenarios.

Player Responsibilities During Combat

- Know your declared number of traits before throwing a challenge.
- Be able to explain where your traits come from if asked by an ST.
- Know your action before your turn in initiative.
- Be prompt and avoid unnecessary chatter during combat.
- Do not coach other players on how to run their sheets.
- Ask rules questions to the ST only — not to other players.
- Know your damage output and its sources. Be able to explain this to an ST.
- Players may ask STs about other players' combat stats (not directly to other players).

Armor Hierarchy

You are allowed 3 types of armor and this is the order the armor levels are utilized when taking damage.

1. Barrier (like a shield bubble around your person, first to take damage)
2. Clothing (Bullet proof vest, padded armor, plate mail)
3. Skin (Anything that adds health levels to your body)

Challenges & Retests

- You may only have one retest per category, unless otherwise noted.

Damage Reduction (Armor & Similar Effects)

- Flat damage reduction effects do not function as per book.
- Instead, they provide temporary “Healthy” health levels equal to the stated reduction value.
 - These health levels refresh at the beginning of the next round, unless stated otherwise in house rules.
 - They can be damaged like normal health levels.

Threat Levels

Below is our system World of Darkness games can use to heighten tension within their games and use for themselves as an indicator of the threat of major hunter organizations coming to their city. It is also suitable for crossover games that respect the Silence of the Blood and the Veil Shall Not Be Lifted among the Garou.

The Silence Threat Level of a game generally starts at a 1. Sabbat games are never able to drop this below a 1. The chart below details what each Silence Threat Level means in relation on a 10-point scale.

Threat Levels Defined

0 - Obscured

The organized hunters have no presence of interest in this city. Vampires and other supernaturals are too well hidden to present any interest.

1 - Dormant

The standard starting Threat Level of a game. No active organized hunters involvement. Heightened sense of vigilance and light monitoring.

2 - Aware

The organized hunters are aware of the city and is considering sending monitoring groups. Still no direct involvement.

3 - Probing

The organized hunters send scouts and informants. A few unmarked operatives begin noting supernatural movements.

4 - Investigating

Organized hunter scouts are in the city. Supernaturals risk exposure while active.

5 - Engaged

Organized hunters operate openly. Teams are working on offensives.

6 - Aggressive Measures

Coordinated strikes begin. Havens, Caerns, and safehouses are under pressure. Multiple groups mobilize under tactical leadership.

7 - Excommunicado

The city is marked high-risk. Hostile action is frequent. Hunter groups are working in concert against larger threats.

8 - Siege

Hunters working with the government have established control across areas. Curfews, checkpoints, and surveillance become the norm. Government and non-governmental forces coordinate at the strategic and tactical levels.

9 - Martial Presence

The city is functionally occupied. No supernatural being may safely move. Total saturation and operational dominance.

10 - Anathema

The city is under final judgment. All supernaturals are targeted for destruction. Hunters enact scorched-earth protocols. Only miracles, mass exodus, or total destruction can save the city.

Threat Level Modifiers (Monthly)

- +1 Mass Murder of Mortals (30+ in one month)
- +1 Witnessed supernatural powers or feeding with no cover-up
- +1 General breach of the Silence or Veil left unresolved
- 1 Coordinated Media 5, Police 5, or Street 5 efforts over 3 months to reduce threat (per instance)
- 1 Calculated murder of key mortal witnesses
- 1 Controlled use of supernatural powers to erase memory in critical witnesses

The Silence Threat Level should be calculated once per month and shared with players. If a game reaches level 10, it cannot be reduced. Storytellers are encouraged to add custom modifiers based on in-game events and player actions that reflect the unique politics and supernatural landscape of their setting.

Ritae of the Sabbat

Any Ritae not on the following list must be approved at the start of game and prior to it's use. Note that faction and pack specific ritae have NO affect to those not of that association.

Auctoritas

Allegiance

This ritus inducts an Embraced vampire into the Sabbat before they receive full membership, emphasizing loyalty and embedding a permanent Vicissitude-crafted mark. It restricts participation in Sabbat rites and imposes social limitations until the vampire completes Creation Rites.

System: The vampire gains the Flaw “Probationary Sect Member,” and their Vicissitude-created mark cannot be removed or altered.

The Blood Bath

Used to formalize a vampire's ascension to high rank, participants offer blood into a shared vessel while honoring the new leader, who then bathes in the vitae and drinks with the others. Sometimes consecrated as a Vaulderie, this rite symbolizes loyalty and acceptance.

System: Each participant must contribute one Blood Trait; if consecrated as a Vaulderie, follow standard Vaulderie mechanics.

The Blood Feast

A formal gathering and display of the Sabbat's predatory nature, involving elaborate preparation and ritual feeding from captured prey. The presiding priest blesses the prey, imbuing the blood with enhanced potency.

System: Blood Traits consumed count as double (1 Trait = 2), and may exceed generational limits temporarily. Unused excess blood reverts after three nights.

Creation Rites

A sacred rite marking a vampire's full acceptance into the Sabbat through branding, oath-taking, and a Vaulderie. Recruits may also undergo a symbolic rebirth through shovel party burial and emergence.

System: Requires a 2-Trait Rotschreck test to endure branding. Re-creation rites require success in 2 of 3 Simple Tests. Failure may lead to Final Death.

High Holidays

These rituals mark Sabbat religious festivals like the Palla Grande and Festivo Dello Estinto, celebrating vampiric nature and Sabbat unity. Participants gain spiritual renewal through blood, revelry, and lessons from the Book of Nod.

System: Participants regain all Willpower and receive +1 temporary Willpower (usable for one month or until spent).

Fire Dance

This rite channels and overcomes the vampire's fear of fire through frenzied dancing and jumping through bonfires. Participation is encouraged, even forced, to affirm bravery and faith in the Sabbat.

System: Courage test (2 Traits) to approach fire, Static Physical Challenge (5 Traits) to jump. Success grants one or more bonus Social Traits for the rest of the night and a bonus Courage Trait for this night and the next three nights.

Games of Instinct

These rites are ritualized competitions to demonstrate physical, mental, or social superiority aligned with Sabbat ideals. Examples include Capture the Ductus, Rat Race, and The Spire.

System: Winners gain +1 Trait to a relevant Ability used, lasting two weeks. Only one such bonus may be held at a time.

Monomacy

A sacred duel resolving irreconcilable Sabbat conflicts, authorized and overseen by a priest, and fought to submission, exile, or Final Death. The rite is highly ritualized and symbolically significant.

System: No specific mechanics; duel terms are set by participants. The priest officiates and adds ritual gravity.

Contrition Ritus

Vampires confess sins against the Sabbat and receive punishment to symbolically reaffirm their loyalty. The rite is a chance for redemption but repeated use may signal weakness.

System: Success removes all consequences for the grievance. Failure strips all Status and title benefits for six months.

Sermons of Caine

This ritus involves theological discourse and readings from the Book of Nod to unite and inspire the pack spiritually. It fosters loyalty and debate on Sabbat doctrine.

System: No mechanics required, but Performance tests may be used. Long-term exposure can grant Sabbat Lore (up to 1-2 levels below the priest's).

Vaulderie

The cornerstone of Sabbat unity, the Vaulderie creates a web of loyalty through mutual ingestion of commingled vitae, forming Vinculi between participants. It replaces the blood bond with a mystical group tie.

System: Roll a die for each vampire's Vinculum. Repeat rolls during future Vaulderies may increase or decrease scores. Used to determine loyalty conflicts.

War Party

This ritus mobilizes Sabbat packs to hunt and destroy a powerful enemy, often a non-Sabbat elder, under ritualized and competitive terms. Victors earn glory and Status.

System: The vampire committing diablerie gains usual benefits. Winning pack earns temporary Martial Status; defeating Methuselahs grants permanent Status.

Wild Hunt

Used to punish traitors who have endangered the Sabbat, this grim ritus involves hunting, torture, interrogation, and ultimate destruction of the offender and their accomplices. It reaffirms unity through vengeance.

Weylan's Wycran

- Type: VA
- Level: N/A
- Effect: A Wayland-forged blade is, first and foremost, indestructible by anything short of the blood of dragons or other similar potent monsters. The blade will never notch or break, even when crossed with another of the same lineage. The gems set into the hilt cannot be pried loose, and any gold worked into the inlay cannot be melted out or otherwise extracted. These weapons were made for skilled swordsmen and they will not suffer themselves to be wielded by unworthy masters. If grasped by a character without at least two levels in Melee, steel thorns will sprout from the grip of the blade, piercing the offending hand and causing two levels of aggravated damage. Two points worth of blood will also be absorbed into the blade at this time; if a Cainite is pierced thus and attempts to heal himself while still impaled by on the thorns, any blood directed toward healing will instead be drunk by the thirsty blade. In the hands of a worthy swordsman, however, a blade from Wayland's forge is little short of miraculous. It adds two bonus traits to the weapon and two additional levels of damage. It can also break blades that cross it with a standard Physical challenge retested with Melee. Furthermore, many of these blades sing or chant in battle, and the knowledge that a Wayland-forged sword is on the field has broken several armies ranks. Wayland's swords, by drinking from the hands that wield them, have a limited blood pool (five points) and access to something mimics Celerity (granting 1 additional action a round for one blood trait from the sword). At storyteller's discretion, the sword will use its Blood Pool and take extra actions of its own initiative. When a sword's Blood Pool reaches zero, it immediately sprouts thorns and begins to drink. Swords that drink thrice from the same Cainite can develop a Blood Oath for that vampire, and legends speak of bereaved swords that seek lost masters across Europe. It is worth noting that none of Wayland's swords has ever been proved to be truly aware. They have hungers and a certain sort of instinct, but nothing more. By way of an explanation for this phenomenon, Certain Cappadocians claim that Wayland has hammered souls into each of his pieces. This lends credence to the idea that Wayland and the Great Smith of the Dead are the same. Other scholars scoff at this, but mumble of fae magics and their ilk.

Renown & Rank

This section explains how characters progress in Rank, how Renown is handled, and how to track your eligibility over time.

Rank Progression

Characters advance in rank based on a combination of total experience (XP) and real-world time since their character's creation or their last completed rank challenge.

Time requirements begin from: - The day you create your character or - The day you complete your last rank challenge

You must email staff to notify them of the date your last rank challenge was completed.

Advancement Requirements

- Rank Transition: Total XP Required, Time Required since last increase, Notes
- Rank 0 -> Rank 1: 25 XP, 1 month, Requires Den Parent permission
- Rank 1 -> Rank 2: 75 XP, 3 months
- Rank 2 -> Rank 3: 125 XP, 6 months
- Rank 3 -> Rank 4: 175 XP, 9 months
- Rank 4 -> Rank 5: 300 XP, 1 year

See the Punishment Rites section for any modifications to XP or time requirements.

Rank Challenges

- All Changing Breeds must go through the appropriate challenge process (e.g., Rank Challenge, Court of Autumn, Parliament).
- Eligibility must be confirmed by staff before proceeding with the rank-up method.
- If no official method exists for your next rank, work with staff to determine your path forward.

Renown Tracking

Because we use a Time/XP-based system, your Renown is assumed to be:

- The minimum required for your current rank, as listed in Laws of the Wild Revised (pg. 181).
- Ragabash: Your Renown is evenly split between categories unless tracked/logged otherwise with the ST staff.

If your character possesses Gifts or Powers that rely on Renown numbers, please discuss with the STs privately to establish accurate totals.

Rank Benefits

We do not use any form of Rank-based mechanical benefits.

Rank is narrative and prestige-based only.

DISCIPLINARY POLICY

OWBN Knoxville expects all players — both local and visiting — to abide by the Code of Conduct as written for One World by Night (OWbN).

Any player who wishes to review the Code of Conduct can find it on the OWbN website, and the staff will happily email it to anyone upon request.

Rules

1. No arguing with the staff:

- If a character's death depends on a rules call, an aside may be requested.
- Aggressive actions toward staff regarding rulings will not be tolerated.

2. Do not endanger other players, staff, or the site. This includes, but is not limited to:

- Acrobatics or unsafe physical activity.
- Bringing live weapons to game.
- Being intoxicated during game.
- Use of open flame (excluding lighters) without prior staff approval.

3. Harassment will not be tolerated, whether verbal or physical:

- If a player or storyteller asks you to stop inappropriate out-of-character behavior, do so immediately.
- In-character harassment must also be moderated. If staff determines that it exceeds acceptable limits, it must be curtailed.

4. Cheating will not be tolerated.

5. Punishments will be determined by staff based on the situation. Staff reserves the right to escalate directly to more severe penalties when warranted.

Disciplinary Actions

1. Warning

- A verbal or written notice from staff that a rule has been violated.
- A warning is simply that — a warning — and will not be held against the player unless the behavior continues.

2. Strike

- Issued if a player's behavior exceeds the bounds of a warning, or if multiple warnings are ignored.
- A strike will expire after 3 months, provided the player complies with rules and adjusts their behavior.

3. Temporary Ban

- Issued after receiving 3 strikes.

- Duration: 1–3 games (determined by staff).
 - After the ban period, the player may return, and one strike will be removed from their record.
 - All characters will be shelved during the ban.
4. Indefinite Ban
 - Player is removed from game indefinitely.
 - Must petition staff to return.
 - Characters not GNC'd must be transferred to another chronicle or will remain shelved.
 5. Generate New Character (GNC)
 - The character is permanently destroyed and may not be played again.
 6. Additional Note
 - Any punishment beyond a Warning will impact the player's ability to create Rare & Unusual (R&U) characters.
